Program description: The efforts of the Washington State Coalition to Reduce Underage Drinking (RUaD) are documented on its website, http://www.starttalkingnow.org. RUaD coalition members represent 27 state agencies and organizations. A major current effort is a media campaign called “Let’s Draw the Line Between Youth and Alcohol” featuring community outreach efforts involving law enforcement. Project 1 involves law enforcement and legislators in community events to raise awareness about underage drinking. Project 2 involves law enforcement and youth in assessing the amount of interior and exterior alcohol advertising in stores in communities, as well as emphasizing to retailers the importance of asking for identification for all alcohol sales. Project 3 involves law enforcement and community leaders in establishing community conversations about social host ordinances. The RUaD coalition has also taken on important policy issues like pulling caffeinated high-alcohol-by-volume drinks (such as FourLoko) from store shelves and has worked to establish a permanent federal ban on the products.

Historically, 600 to 800 schools across Washington state have received SAPISP services annually. Due to a reduction in funding, SAPISP was only able to reach approximately 300 schools in 2010 and 2011.

Underage Drinking Prevention Programs Operated or Funded by the State:

Athena Forum Website

- URL for more program information: http://www.theathenaforum.org

Program description: This is the primary website for prevention professional development in Washington State. The site contains extensive information about underage drinking, but also about other general prevention issues and features informational maps and community profiles that indicate the geographic location of high-risk areas for various problem behaviors. The site has both a public view and a members-only side. Through the public view, users can access most of the resource information, including information about upcoming prevention events and training. Through the members-only side, users can post information on the site and participate in discussions and blogs.

Target Zero Task Forces

- URL for more program information: http://www.wtsc.wa.gov/programs-priorities/task-forces

Program description: The 41 Target Zero task forces are a key community-based component of the Washington Traffic Safety Commission’s plan to reduce Washington traffic fatalities to zero. The task forces focus on addressing local traffic safety concerns, including impaired driving, young drivers, speeding, and safety restraint usage. Many of the task forces operate DUI victim impact panels for adults and youth and/or have law enforcement partnerships that implement party intervention patrols.

Additional Information Related to Underage Drinking Prevention Programs

- State collaborates with federally recognized Tribal governments in the prevention of underage drinking: Yes

  Description of collaboration: The Division of Behavioral Health and Recovery (DBHR) provides direct funding to the state’s 29 federally recognized Tribes to support services that prevent or treat substance abuse problems. Most of the Tribes use these funds to support prevention efforts, most of which focus on youth issues including underage drinking.

- State has programs to measure and/or reduce youth exposure to alcohol advertising and marketing: Yes

  Program description: In the past, EUDL funds supported statewide media campaigns. In 2011, the RUaD coalition decided that because of budget cuts in the federal EUDL program, as well as significant cuts to the budgets of partner agencies, funds were insufficient to support a statewide campaign. However, several community outreach efforts remain. For example, the DBHR communications manager arranged for a major billboard company to run a series of underage drinking prevention messages statewide in 2011.

- State has adopted or developed best practice standards for underage drinking prevention programs: Yes

  Best practice standards description: Washington requires that 60 percent of programs and strategies implemented with the prevention set-aside from the federal Substance Abuse Prevention and Treatment (SAPT) block grant be evidence based. DBHR is in the process of converting its county-based preventon-delivery system to a system that focuses on high-risk communities. In that process, best practices for community coalitions are being practiced, and implementation of the Strategic Prevention Framework is used as the planning platform for communities. Each participating community is required to organize and support a community coalition, deliver both direct prevention services and environmental strategies, and provide prevention/intervention services in the community’s schools.

Additional Clarification
The Washington State Coalition to Reduce Underage Drinking is co-chaired by the Division of Behavioral Health and Recovery and Washington State Liquor Control Board, so those two agencies generally take the lead on creation of plans and reports. The documents are then brought to the coalition for review and approval.

Funds Dedicated to Underage Drinking

State derives funds dedicated to underage drinking from the following revenue streams:
- Taxes: No
- Fines: No
- Fees: No
- Other: No data

Description of funding streams and how they are used:
No data

Additional Clarification
It is difficult to quantify dollars spent, as the programs have multiple focus points. The dollar amounts given represent whole budgets for programs, but do not represent the portion of those funds directed to underage drinking prevention.
